Overview

Dr. Sangita Sathyamurthy is an experienced rheumatologist in Bangalore, currently practicing at Manipal Hospital Whitefield as a Consultant - Rheumatology. With over 10+ years of experience, she is a specialist in managing a wide range of rheumatological conditions, like Rheumatoid Arthritis, Reactive Arthritis, Osteoarthritis, Gout, and Immunological Disorders like Systemic Lupus Erythematosus (SLE), and its varied manifestations. Dr. Sangita is proficient in performing joint injections, nerve blocks, and other procedures independently. She has developed a strong interest in musculoskeletal ultrasound, integrating this diagnostic tool into her everyday practice. She is the Best Rheumatologist in Whitefield. Dr. Sangita Sathyamurthy’s medical journey began with an MBBS from Dr. MGR Tamil Nadu Medical University, followed by MRCP (UK) and obtaining the Specialist Certificate in Rheumatology from the Royal College of Physicians, UK. Dr. Sathyamurthy also received her Certificate of Completion of Specialist Training (CCST) in Rheumatology, further solidifying her standing as an expert in her field. Spanning over India and the UK, Dr. Sangita has held several esteemed positions throughout her career.

Throughout her engagements in different medical institutions, she has provided a blended model of care, combining direct and remote consultations. Her experience covers multiple units, including various NHS trusts in the UK, where she worked as a locum consultant, managing rheumatology patients with diverse needs. This exposure has equipped her with in-depth knowledge and the ability to handle complex and acute rheumatological emergencies. In addition to her clinical practice, Dr. Sangita Sathyamurthy is a dedicated educator. Her passion for education is evident in her continued involvement in academic teaching, including planning to participate in undergraduate education in the future. She has presented numerous case studies and audits, sharing her insights into complex rheumatological conditions and contributing to the advancement of rheumatology. Dr. Sangita Sathyamurthy has participated as a sub-investigator in clinical trials and has been involved in several design surveys. Her leadership roles have included serving as the Teaching Representative for Mersey Rheumatology trainees and organizing OSCE-style teaching sessions for medical students. Dr. Sangita’s dedication to providing high-quality care, combined with her commitment to advancing medical knowledge and education, makes her a valuable asset to the medical community and a trusted consultant for her patients
