Overview

Dr Gaurav Raghunath Suralkar is a Consultant Gynecologic Oncologist at Manipal Hospitals Baner, Pune, with over 8 years of experience in the diagnosis and treatment of gynaecological cancers. He is dedicated to providing comprehensive cancer care for women through advanced surgical techniques, evidence-based treatments, and a compassionate patient-centred approach. After completing his MBBS from Lokmanya Tilak Municipal Medical College (LTMMC), Sion, Mumbai, Dr. Suralkar pursued an MS in Obstetrics and Gynaecology from Swami Ramanand Teerth Government Medical College, Ambajogai. He further specialised in cancer surgery through a prestigious Fellowship in Gynaec-Oncosurgery from Tata Memorial Hospital, Mumbai, one of India's most renowned oncology institutes. Dr Suralkar has extensive expertise in the management of cervical, ovarian, uterine, vulvar, and other gynaecological cancers. His special interests include advanced laparoscopic oncological surgeries, complex pelvic surgeries, fertility-preserving cancer surgeries, and the treatment of advanced-stage cancers requiring multidisciplinary care. He is particularly experienced in performing cytoreductive surgeries combined with HIPEC

(Hyperthermic Intraperitoneal Chemotherapy) for advanced ovarian and peritoneal malignancies. His surgical expertise includes radical hysterectomy for cervical cancer, vulvectomy with groin node dissection, pelvic and retroperitoneal lymph node dissection, and exenterative procedures for selected advanced gynaecological cancers. In addition to cancer surgery, he performs preventive and diagnostic procedures such as Pap smear screening, HPV testing, colposcopy, LEEP, and cervical conisation to aid in the early detection and prevention of cancer. At Manipal Hospitals Baner, Dr Suralkar works closely with medical oncologists, radiation oncologists, radiologists, and pathologists to ensure personalised treatment plans and holistic cancer care. His commitment to clinical excellence, minimally invasive surgical approaches, and improved patient outcomes has established him as a trusted specialist in gynaecologic oncology. He remains focused on bringing advanced cancer care and the latest treatment innovations to women across Pune and neighbouring regions.
