Qualification

MBBS | MS | FMAS (GI ONCOLOGY) | FMBS

Overview

Dr Lakshay Goel is a highly trained and dedicated surgeon specialising in robotic, laparoscopic, and general surgical procedures, with focused expertise in gastrointestinal and metabolic care. With a strong academic foundation and diverse clinical exposure, he has developed a comprehensive skill set spanning minimal access GI surgeries, bariatric procedures, GI oncosurgeries, and advanced laser proctology. He completed his M.B.B.S from Muzaffarnagar Medical College (2013–2018), followed by an M.S. in General Surgery from Dr Ram Manohar Lohia Awadh University (2020–2023). Further refining his expertise, DDrGoel pursued fellowships in Minimal Access GI Surgery and Oncosurgery, as well as Metabolic and Bariatric Surgery (FMBS), gaining hands-on experience in cutting-edge surgical techniques and patient care. Professionally, Dr Goel has worked as a Junior Consultant at Shri Tirupati Hospital, Ghaziabad, and subsequently completed advanced fellowships at Dharamshila Narayana Superspeciality Hospital and Max Superspecialty Hospital (Vaishali and Patparganj). During this time, he gained extensive experience in robotic and laparoscopic procedures, including cholecystectomy, appendectomy, hernia repairs, and abdominal wall reconstruction. He is also proficient in performing endoscopic procedures such as gastroscopy and sigmoidoscopy, along with laser treatments for anorectal conditions like fissures, fistulas, and haemorrhoids. In addition to his clinical work, Dr Goel is actively involved in academic and professional organisations. He serves as General Secretary of the Uttar Pradesh IMA JDN (2025–2027) and holds leadership roles within the IMA Ghaziabad and other medical committees. His contributions extend to organising major state and national conferences, reflecting his commitment to continuous learning and knowledge sharing. Dr Goel has been recognised with a prestigious scholarship for fellowship training in metabolic and bariatric surgery in the USA. He has also published multiple research papers in national and international journals and has been invited as faculty at various state and national CME programs. Fluent in Hindi and English, Dr Goel combines technical excellence with compassionate patient care. His commitment to innovation, education, and surgical precision makes him a promising and dynamic figure in modern surgical practice.
